

On the pursuit of public art: Route 2

Orangeville

You're on a quest to find 17 pieces of public art in east Orangeville. Follow this two-kilometre route to admire tree sculptures and utility boxes while you solve the clues for each piece.

Route: Start in downtown Orangeville, across from Town Hall then head east/right along Broadway to find a collection of pieces located at the Sherbourne Street intersection. Head north/left and after a quick rest at Rotary Park, continue along Second Avenue to First Street. Spend some time here exploring the pieces before heading south/left back to Broadway. After a short detour west/right to John Street, cross Broadway and head east/left back to Town Hall. Find the route online here: <https://bit.ly/publicartroute2>

Things to know:

- The clues are in order of appearance, but some are slightly off the exact route. Make sure to keep watch along the way!
- The route is all outdoors so it can be done safely at any time. Make sure to dress for the weather.
- The entire route travels along sidewalks and paved paths, making it an easy stroll for all participants.

Hunt online!

This quest can also be completed using the free Goose Chase app. Get the app, register a team, and use game code 7D8P45 or search for Orangeville.

Share your fun with us on Facebook or Instagram (@orangevilletourism)

Clue #1: Meet the maker There are many elements to appreciate in Sesquicentennial, the 12-foot tree sculpture on Broadway, across from Town Hall. What is the last name of the two artists who created the piece? Answer: _____	Clue #2: Roll with the punches As you go east/right on Broadway, keep your guard up when you meet the next tree sculpture. The Boxer is ready to fight! Don't throw in the towel until you snap a photo in your best boxing stance. Share your photo at @orangevilletourism	Clue #3: What a hoot! Find an owl in a tree, sitting on the side of Broadway. The owl was crafted separately from the rest of the sculpture. No wonder he is holding on tight! How many talons are on each foot? Answer: _____	Clue #4: Twist and shout At Sherbourne Street, find a carving of a woman. She was created by the first female artist featured in the tree sculpture program. Can you guess the name of the sculpture? Hint: It describes how she is moving. Answer: _____	Clue #5: Hot stuff The Dragon Timber may not be breathing fire, but the intricacy of the carving is breath taking. Admire his scales, wings, claws, and other features. Then pose with the beast for a striking photo. Share your photo at @orangevilletourism
Clue #6: The whole wide world Inclusive, a tree sculpture located on the northeast corner, depicts a group of people with different levels of ability reaching up to a globe. How many people are shown in the sculpture? Answer: _____	Clue #7: Get mooooooo-ving This colourful utility box is called Dufferin Bovines. The artwork celebrates the County's agricultural roots. There are seven cows in the artwork. How many are lying down? Answer: _____	Sherbourne Street becomes Second Avenue at Rotary Park. Take some time to play or rest at the park before continuing along Second Avenue. The next collection of public art awaits you at First Street.		Clue #8: A history of care The Nurse stands proudly in front of the former location of the Dufferin Area Hospital, wearing a uniform reminiscent of the early 1900s. The sculpture marked a special anniversary for the local chapter of the IODE. In what year did it celebrate 100 years of care for the community? Answer: _____
Clue #9: Uplifting "Helping Hands and Caring Hearts" pays tribute to another nurse, Erna Baniulis. The sculpture was created to honour her 90th birthday. How many hearts are shown in between the two hands? Answer: _____	Clue #10: Horsing around Artist Ellen Cameron created the image of Clydesdale horses displayed on the utility box at this corner. How many horses are shown working in the snow-covered field? Answer: _____	Clue #11: Fit for a prince The Prince of Wales tree sculpture overlooks First street, a route that was formerly called Prince of Wales Road. Looking dapper in a three-piece suit, what is the prince leaning on? Answer: _____	Clue #12: High flyer Take a detour west/right on Broadway to find a utility box showcasing many of the community's key buildings and monuments. What is flying from the top of the Dufferin County Court House building? Answer: _____	Clue #13: Howl at the moon Cross the street and turn east/left. The tree sculpture in front of the post office is one of the newest additions to the collection and features a group of four coyotes. How many are howling? Answer: _____
Clue #14: The Thrill is Gone The utility box installed at the intersection of Broadway and First Street is a tribute to the Orangeville Blues & Jazz Festival. Artist Larry Kurtz is also the founder of the annual event. What artist is shown in the artwork? Answer: _____	Clue #15: Once upon a time The Storyteller tree sculpture depicts Marilyn Doekes, a dedicated teacher and librarian in our community. Her own story is shown on the plaque near the sculpture. What business did she found? Answer: _____	Clue #16: Out for a ride Across from Town Hall, a utility box shows a fun-loving bovine going for a ride through the countryside. The driver is wearing a tie. What colour is it? Answer: _____	Clue #17: Standing proud Look! A lion! But is there just one? Look high and low. What is the total number of lions carved into this tree sculpture? Answer: _____	You've completed your quest, but the adventure isn't over! While you're here, explore downtown Orangeville and discover a unique selection of local shops and restaurants.